Christian Janssen displays The J. Douglas Muir Award For Distinguished Teaching. With Dr. Janssen is Dean Smith, Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce.

Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce: Award for Excellence in Teaching

The Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce has selected Christian T.L. Janssen as the first recipient of the J.D. Muir Award for Distinguished Teaching. Named after J. Douglas Muir, a former faculty member and Dean-elect who passed away in 1976, the award will be given annually to "the professor who exhibits consistently superior performance, both in the classroom and in command of the subject matter; a concern for student development both in and outside the classroom; and an interest in developing new courses and improving the content and organization of existing courses and in helping colleagues improve their courses and teaching."

Dr. Janssen is Professor in the Department of Finance and Management Science, and a former Associate Dean of the Faculty. His field of interest is probability, statistics, finance and mathematical decision models. He is the author or co-author of some twenty-five journal articles. He holds BA and MBA degrees from the University of Gothenburg, Sweden, and a PhD from Cornell University.

The first award this year was given to Dr. Janssen in recognition of his outstanding contribution over more than a decade of dedicated teaching at The University of Alberta and, earlier, at Cornell University. His commitment and his ability to motivate students, as well as his major role in the design of the Bachelor of Commerce program introduced in 1970 were cited. □

General Faculties Council

November closed with a meeting of General Faculties Council. As usually happens when a body meets but once a month, the agenda was meaty, prompting the winking out of the following items.

New Members

Undergraduate students Candace Drew (Physical Education and Recreation), Timothy Jellard (Science), Dan Suchowerski (Arts), Carleen Brenneis (Nursing), and Randy Mueller (Education) were appointed to serve on Council for a term of office which begins immediately and which expires on 31 March 1982.

As well, the names of faculty members R.L. Carey (Nursing), R.T. Hardin (Agriculture and Forestry), and A. Nitecki (Library Science) were received by Council. Dr. Carey's term is December 1981 to 30 June 1982 while those of Dr. Hardin and Professor Nitecki are December 1981 to 30 June 1984, and January 1982 to 30 January 1984, respectively.

Affiliation Agreement

A proposal from the Affiliation Agreement Evaluation Committee that Canadian Union College (CUC) and The University of Alberta renew their affiliation agreement met with Council's approval. The agreement will undergo "such minor changes as are required to bring it into line with current organizational and legislative changes" and will be reviewed in 1986. Site visits to CUC had been conducted and it was found that staff qualifications and course curricula were satisfactory. Library holdings, however, were characterized as being "barely adequate" or "minimal" in all Arts fields. The College will confirm its plans for upgrading library holdings with the University's Committee on Admissions and Transfer as soon as possible.

Incidentally, in June 1981, the University renewed its affiliation agreement with Camrose Lutheran College.

University Professorships

"We have considered the recommendation of the Deans' Council that no further University Professors be appointed. In this we sought information from other Universities and considered the question of such appointments in a broad sense. The comments and suggestions of members of the Executive Committee (of GFC) have also been considered and in most cases incorporated into this report. It is our proposal that this University continue to have University Professors and to make such appointments in keeping with the guidelines and criteria recommended."

So began the report of the GFC Executive Subcommittee on University Professorships, a report that put the capper on an issue that has been under review for the past five years. The report, endorsed by Council by a vote of 63 to 14, recommends that the title of University Professor should be granted to those individuals who have achieved outstanding distinction in scholarly research, teaching, and service to the community. It is further recommended that appointment shall be without term, for full-time service to the University. Any individual appointed to a full-time academic position without term at the University may be appointed a University Professor and, while no optimum number of Professors is seen, it is expected that the ranks will be small given the very high standards required for the appointment.

The report calls for a standing selection committee to be elected by GFC to review nominations and to make recommendations. Appointments are to be recommended by the Committee to the President.

Advance Registration

It was determined that advance registration will continue as presently constituted, that an attempt will be made to increase the use of advance registration by continuing students, and that only students continuing in the same Faculty be eligible to participate in advance registration. Furthermore, advance registration for winter sessions will begin in mid-March and last for at least four weeks (the current state of the art) but not extend beyond 1 June. Each Faculty will be allowed to establish its own registration schedule within that period.

It was also decided that the feasibility of implementing a continuous registration system immediately would be examined by the Registrar's Office and Faculty Offices.

Graduate Service Program in Applied Statistics

This program, which includes a Statistical Services Laboratory and an MSc Specialization in Applied Statistics, was approved by Council. The laboratory will provide a University-wide statistical consulting service for faculty members and graduate students and the MSc program will supply, through its graduate students, a major contribution to the consulting services of the Statistical Services Laboratory. □

1980's Advanced Education Endowment Fund: Gifts-in-Kind

The University is benefitting from the many generous gifts-in-kind bestowed upon it by members of the public. Since the advent of the provincial government's 1980's Advanced Education Endowment Fund, the University has derived even greater benefits through the matching capital grant program.

Members of the University who become involved with a donor wishing to make a gift of property to the University should be aware that there are strict procedures governing the acceptance of the gift, its evaluation and any application made for matching funds. In addition, there frequently may be tax implications which require specialized knowledge.

If the University is to receive the maximum benefit from its participation in the Endowment Fund, it is important that all procedures be complied with to the satisfaction of the Department of Advanced Education. Members of the University are reminded that prior to accepting any gifts-in-kind on the University's behalf, they should contact Dennis Grover, Office of the Comptroller (432-4654), or P.S. Taitt, Office of the Vice-President (Facilities and Services) (432-3540). □

A Pronouncement on Probouleutic

The production of propaganda to promote this University's processes is proper for one of the University's chief proponents, Folio. May we, therefore, propose as propitiation for the provision of "probouleutic" this profitless prose.

We do not proscribe the pretension of our vocabulary but rather, protect our protervity (rare: OED) against all protests. In short, we act as propugnators for the prodigality of our language. It is, in any case, quite probable that those who found "probouleutic" problematic could profit from procuring a copy of

The Compact Edition of the Oxford English Dictionary.

We proffer this little project to both professors and the proletariat in the hope that both may become more proficient in the use of their language—or at any rate, of a good dictionary.

So, having made that pronouncement, we prostrate ourselves before Folio's readers for using a word so little understood. We may sometimes get things out of proportion and become—what would you say? Prolix? However, we remain aware that our profession is "PR." □

Noted French Author Visits Campus

One of the largest audiences ever to attend a French lecture on the main campus of this University came recently to hear novelist Alain Robbe-Grillet discuss the French novel from Balzac to Camus.

Best known in North America for his screenplay of Last Year at Marienbad (1961), Mr. Robbe-Grillet has been a leading author of the nouveau roman (new novel) in France. His works include La Jalousie, Les Gommages, Le Voyeur, and Dans le Labyrinthe, works which caused considerable controversy because of their refusal to conform to traditional modes of writing.

Mr. Robbe-Grillet's novels avoid moral judgments, stating that "the world is neither significant nor absurd, it simply is." To the novelist, "our concept of the world around us is now only fragmentary, temporary, contradictory even, and always disputable. How can a work of art presume to illustrate a pre-ordained concept, whatever it might be?"

Alain Robbe-Grillet's visit was sponsored by Faculté Saint-Jean and by the Departments of Romance Languages and Comparative Literature. □

Day Care Kids and Students Help Each Other

Since last September, children enrolled in the Students' Union and Community Day Care and students registered in the Department of Elementary Education's Children's Art Program have been helping each other out in an "Art Lab" every Thursday. Under the direction of Associate Professor Pat Rafferty, the children (thirty-two of them in the three to four years old age group) have been provided with purposeful art experiences. The experiences, according to Professor Rafferty and Marian Warwick, Director of the Day Care, are "integrated with constructive involvement in a personal sensing of a broad range of ideas developed in science, movement, social studies, and language education."

"To see our children perform well outside the normal environment of the centre and working with students who recognize, as we do, that Art is an experience with emphasis on personal satisfaction, is an integral part of the developmental process, rather than the productive result," says Marian

Warwick. "Yet, we do acknowledge the 'work' of our children when building self-esteem—sensory involvement, hand-eye coordination, color concepts, shading and mixing and movement are some of the aspects learned through this medium."

Apart from the evident benefits to the children in the Students' Union and Community Day Care, there are also very clear rewards for the Elementary Education students involved in the program. They, according to Professor Rafferty, gain an opportunity to develop teaching strategies in art education. To prepare for their role in the "Art Lab" program, the students engage in art studio workshops and in seminars. Some of the students working with the young children are classroom teachers who have returned to the University for further development.

The "Art Program" is an integral part of ED Cl 336, a course that will be offered in 1982-83.

cooperation between the Day Care and Pat Rafferty's group, evident since the beginning of the program to parents, were clearly demonstrated last Thursday, when the Students' Union and Community Day care held an "Official Showing." The children were proud of their work and received a great deal of personal satisfaction from being involved in the program.

As Marian Warwick says, "the Students' Union and Community Day Care is very appreciative of being part of the University community through an involvement with the Art program (and a gym program). It serves as a valuable and enjoyable exchange, creating mutual awareness of children between our staff and Faculties, as we move together in common goals." □

Teachers' Home Ownership Savings Plan

The THOSP is a government-approved tax shelter that allows you to reduce taxable income while saving, and earn interest on pre-taxed income.

You can contribute up to 1,000 tax deductible dollars each year to an accumulated lifetime maximum of $10,000. And you and your spouse can have separate THOSPs for a total accumulated savings of $20,000 plus interest. If you withdraw from the plan to purchase an owner-occupied home in Canada, you will never pay income tax on those accumulated savings, nor on the interest earned.

If the THOSP sounds like a tax shelter you could build on, call Teachers' Co-op today for a free brochure.

Your THOSP contributions must be made by December 31, 1981 to be eligible to receive tax savings for the current tax year.
